

LOWA Spring 2024 Native Plant Sale

Ask to hear more about hiring a plant installation specialist!

Did you know?

Since 1970, North American bird populations have decreased by nearly 30% and habitat loss is a big reason for the decline.

74% of grassland bird species are in decline.

Bees pollinate 80% of flowering plants in the world and over the past decade, bee populations have fallen by 30%.

The loss of bees and other bugs is scary, since insects are food sources for countless bird, fish and mammal species. Pollinators like bees perform a crucial role in fruit, vegetable and nut production.

You can help!

We can all help one yard at a time by increasing and maintaining proper habitats for all kinds of insects and for birds. Native plants provide the fuel that is needed for those insects and birds.

And LOWA is once again coming to the rescue with the ANNUAL SPRING NATIVE PLANT SALE. You have the opportunity to pre-order top quality native plants to not only support those birds and insects but to help with erosion control, as native plants have deep root systems to help hold soil in Pre-order by emailing your order to billington47@gmail.com along with your name, email address and phone number. We will confirm your order with you along with the total that will be due at the time of pick up. Deadline for orders is April 19th. However, we encourage you to place your order as soon as you are ready so that we can place a hold on the plants you want—I will be sending orders at frequent intervals before the deadline.

There will be a few extra plants available to purchase in case you forgot to pre-order something you wanted OR to purchase just for the fun of it!
